Parks are once again widely acknowledged as central to creating and sustaining the attractive, stimulating, healthy communities in which we want to live.

But with this increased profile come new expectations and challenges. The role of the green space manager is changing, so that today's job involves not only day-to-day service delivery, but also engagement with new policy agendas and innovative approaches to service delivery and attracting resources.

The CABI Space leaders programme has been developed to support green space managers in meeting these needs.

The programme is filling up fast, so if you would like to book a place, you are recommended to register your interest.

13 – 14 March 2008

Healthy, safe and prosperous communities how culture, sport and tourism can deliver

Venue: Liverpool

Organiser: Local Government Association

This year's annual culture, sport and tourism conference will explore the ways in which cultural services can impact on the priority needs of local communities, delivering shared outcomes and driving service improvements.
